Contemporary African Art 28 2019 A revised edition of this seminal title, surveying the diverse, ever-evolving fi contemporary African art from the 1950s to today, illustrated in color throughout. Contemporary African art ha of the diverse histories and cultural heritage of the African continent and its diaspora. It is not characterized by particular style, technique, or theme, but by a bricolage-like attitude toward art making, incorporating and buildi structures from which older, pre- colonial and colonial genres were made. In this revised and updated edition of Contemporary African Art, Sidney Littlefield Kasfir examines the major themes, developments, and accomplishme African art of the twentieth and twenty-first centuries. Organized thematically, the book includes new chapters of African photography and the growth of the global art market, alongside significant discussions of patronage, artistic training, and national and diaspora identities. Generously illustrated throughout, including work by artists Anatsui, Yinka Shonibare, William Kentridge, and Ibrahim El-Salahi, the book draws on interviews with many contemporary artists and art world professionals. Contemporary African Art is a fascinating, comprehensive survey of art from the continent and its global diaspora.

Content Inc., Second Edition: Start a Content-First Business, Build a Massive Audience and Become Radically Successful (With Little to No Money) Dec 12 2020 From one of today's leading experts in content marketing, Content Inc. is the ultimate guide to building a solid small business by establishing a loyal audience before you sell products or services. In this book, Joe Pulizzi provides a lower-risk, more effective way to create a path to success by re-engineering the process that often leads to failure: You'll learn how to develop valuable content, build an audience around that content, and then create a product for that audience. Content Inc. walks you through the entire process, showing how to: • Choose a marketable topic • Figure out where little or no competition exists • Choose your top channel for disseminating content • Build customer loyalty • Monetize your product or service • Expand your content into multiple channels • Sell your content and scale it into a large enterprise This updated edition includes new and enhanced coverage of platforms like TikTok, YouTube, and Instagram, a new section about the exit strategy for the model, more practical how-tos, and current examples of companies that have successfully implemented these strategies. Content Inc. provides an ingenious approach to building a business based on a profoundly simple concept: Having a singular focus on audience, and building a loyal audience directly through content. This is the best, most nuanced understanding of what products ultimately make the most sense to sell. Apply the methods you learn in Content Inc., and create the business of your dreams.

Graphic Design: New History 2nd Edition Jun 05 2020 Now in its second edition, this innovative look at the history of graphic design explores its evolution from the 19th century to the present day. Author Stephen J. Eskilson demonstrates how a new era began for design arts under the influence of Victorian reformers, tracing the emergence of modernist design in the early 20th century, and examining the wartime politicization of regional styles. Richly contextualized chapters chronicle the history of the Bauhaus and the rise of the International Style in the 1950s and '60s, and the postmodernist movement of the 1970s and '80s. The book's final chapter looks at current trends in graphic design, with in-depth discussions of grunge, comic book, and graffiti aesthetics; historicism and appropriation; and the influence of technology, web design, and motion graphics. The second edition features over 80 new images, revised text throughout, a new chapter on 21st-century design, and expanded sections on critical topics including the Swiss Style, Postmodernism, and contemporary design.

Personal Identity Jul 07 2020 This volume brings together the vital contributions of distinguished past and contemporary philosophers to the important topic of personal identity. The essays range from John Locke's classic seventeenth-century attempt to analyze personal identity in terms of memory, to twentieth-century defenses and criticisms of the Lockean view. The essays in the second edition are Shoemaker's seminal essay "Persons and Their Pasts," selections from the important and previously unpublished Clark-Collins correspondence, and a new paper by Perry discussing Williams.

Lies, Damned Lies, and Drug War Statistics, Second Edition Jun 01 2020 Revised and updated edition that analyses how the Office of National Drug Control Policy employs statistics to misleadingly claim the War on Drugs is a success. First published in 2007, Lies, Damned Lies, and Drug War Statistics critically analyzed claims made by the Office of National Drug Control Policy (ONDCP), the White House agency of accountability in the nation's drug war since 1989, as well as the six editions of the annual National Drug Control Strategy between 2000 and 2005. In this revised and updated edition of their critically acclaimed work, Matthew B. Robinson and Renee G. Scherlen examine seven more recent editions (2006–2012) to once again determine if ONDCP accurately and honestly presents information or intentionally distorts evidence to justify continuing the drug war. They uncover the many ways in which ONDCP manipulates statistics and visually presents that information to the public. Their analysis demonstrates a drug war that consistently fails to reduce drug use, drug fatalities, or illnesses associated with drug use; fails to provide treatment for drug-dependent users; and increases the prices of drugs. They conclude with policy recommendations for reforming ONDCP's use of statistics, as well as how the nation fights the war on drugs. At Appalachian State University, Matthew B. Robinson is Professor of Criminal Justice and Criminology. Robinson is the author of several books, including Media Coverage of Crime and Criminal Justice. Renee G. Scherlen, is Professor of Political Science at Appalachian State University.

Life Along the Silk Road Nov 30 2019 "In this long-awaited second edition, Susan Whitfield expands her trailblazing exploration of the Silk Road and broadens her rich and varied portrait of life along the great premodern trade routes of Eurasia. This new edition is comprehensively updated to support further understanding of themes relevant to global and comparative history. In the first 1,000 years after Christ, merchants, missionaries, monks, mendicants, and military leaders traveled on the vast network of Central Asian tracks that became known as the Silk Road. Whitfield recounts the stories of twelve individuals who lived at different times during this period, including two new characters: an African shipbuilder and a Persian traveler and writer during the Arab caliphate. With these additional tales, Whitfield extends both geographical and chronological scope, bringing into view the maritime links across the Indian Ocean and depicting the network of trade routes from the Baltic to the Gulf. Throughout the narrative, Whitfield conveys a strong sense of what life was like along the Silk Road."

ordinary men and women on the Silk Road, the individuals usually forgotten to history. A work of great scholarship along the Silk Road continues to be extremely accessible and entertaining"--Provided by publisher.

A Place to Start Over: Barrington Book Two - Second Edition Aug 27 2019 Second Edition with five new Bonus Chapters. Can one bad decision change your life? While recuperating from her biggest mistake, Harriet's had time to plan a new life away from the city. With a business plan on her laptop and determination in her heart, she leaves Sydney, heading on a long drive and she's only just beginning to heal, so she's booked a stopover at Barrington Homestead on the way. She meets Drummond Murray on the road to Barrington. He's a cattle farmer and fifth generation local. Impeccable manners, but not much warmth. She has no choice but to accept his assistance, but she's not keen to see him again. In contrast, Drummond is a local stock and station agent, good humoured, warm and welcoming. Except Harriet isn't looking for romance. She's keen to continue her journey north. Circumstances conspire to keep her in Barrington and after months of feeling lonely, a feeling needed strikes a chord. A cast of local characters and new friendships make her wonder if this might just be the place to start over.
